

DARE MIGHTY THINGS

— DON'T JUST DREAM. DO. —

SOCIAL SERVICES CONSULTING • TRAINING • PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

ABOUT US

Dare Mighty Things (DMT) is a veteran-owned small business offering management consulting services, specializing in technology infused performance management solutions for large-scale programs that affect vulnerable populations. Our goal is to deliver consulting and training solutions that result in important social outcomes.

The team at DMT delivers complete solutions that incorporate program design, management, training, technical assistance, and performance management. Our Creative Learning Solutions (CLS) Division provides end-to-end, technology-infused training and consulting solutions. These include virtual learning communities, website development and support, and interactive classroom and virtual learning experiences.

Our team of full time professionals represents a wealth of intellectual capital and experience in government, business, nonprofit, social science, human service, and military leadership. Our staff hold advanced degrees in a wide range of related disciplines including business, public policy, law, communications, education, organizational development, finance, social work, and counseling.

EXPERTISE

DMT has developed expertise in a variety of strategic areas that are fundamental to helping vulnerable populations. These include:

- » Nonprofit organizational development and sustainability
- » Youth development and mentoring
- » Family support systems

Dare Mighty Things was always accessible and consistently provided top-notch assistance.

Illene S. Marcus, Chief of Staff, Metropolitan Council on Jewish Poverty, CCF Demonstration grantee

Dare Mighty Things examined every aspect of our program. They developed concrete strategies and presented us with a range of solutions that immediately moved us forward and put us back on the path to success.

Dare Mighty Things saved our program and, in the process, many thousands of kids received the help they needed to succeed.
